

February 22, 2021

When you have a neurotypical child or what some may label “normal”, you feel reasonably assured that class participation and decent study habits will result in good grades. These kids have close friends. They get invited to participate in social things like playdates and birthday parties. They make the teams, auditions, organizations and clubs.

But when you have a child with certain differences, this is often not the case. Learning may take longer, both academically and socially. Despite their tremendous efforts, results are often a fraction of their peers and social acceptance is fleeting, setting them up for painful comparisons and bitter frustration. Instead of a fun and fulfilling experience, school can become a breeding ground for depression and anxiety, and assignments a battle ground at home. It is exhausting for parent and child alike.

Students in our own school community struggle with Learning Disabilities, Autism, Dyslexia, and ADHD (Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder) - how do we in the WCS school community treat these students?

For all the children who struggle every day to succeed in a world that does not recognize their gifts and talents, and for those who are walking beside them, please let this be a gentle reminder to be kind and accepting of ALL people.

Recognize that the "playing field" is not always a level surface.

Children who learn differently are not weird. They are merely gifted in ways that our society does not value enough. Yet they want what everyone else wants: To be accepted!!

For your Information:

Prayer Corner- We are coming toward the end of winter. We pray for good health, safe travels, snow on the weekends, and lots of learning opportunities at WCS. May God grant you open eyes to know all the ways you've been blessed. We had a great Kindergarten Information (virtual) Evening last week and are excited to introduce new families to WCS. Please pray for kindergarten registration which takes place this week. Pray for our Board and committees as they plan for the next school year. If you have specific prayer requests, be sure to pass those along to our prayer team through j.mulder@woodstockchristian.ca.

Springfest- This year Springfest will be online, and it will still be as good as ever! If you are interested in donating an item to the auction, would like to help out on pick up day, or would like to help out with baking, or any other area. Please contact Joleen or Dawn. We would love to have your help!

Bazaar Bottles- It is that time of year again, where we are in the planning stages of Springfest. This year it will be online, but we still plan on making bazaar bottles! We are asking the students to get on their creative hat, and we will have a 1 st, 2nd, and 3rd place bottle again! This is always a highlight for the students, and they love to walk through the front lobby and check out each others bottles. Here is a video with instructions on how to make your own bazaar bottle.
